Recent Developments

Ratings downgrades by Moody's relevant to the Bank and to Notes issued under the Programme

The ratings information provided in the Prospectus is updated as set out below.

On 21 June 2012, as part of a ratings review of 114 European financial institutions announced in February 2012, Moody's downgraded the longer-term senior debt and deposit ratings of the Bank by one notch. Moody's have confirmed that the Bank's short-term "Prime-1" rating remains unchanged. Moody's further announced that the outlook is stable on the Bank's standalone credit assessment and negative on the Bank's "A2" senior debt and deposit ratings, reflecting Moody's medium-term view of lower systemic support for UK banks.

Accordingly, as at the date hereof: (i) long-term senior obligations of the Bank are rated "A2" by Moody's; and (ii) short-term obligations of the Bank are rated "P-1" by Moody's.

Accordingly, Moody's is expected to rate: Senior Notes issued by the Bank with a maturity of one year or more "A2"; and Subordinated Notes issued by the Bank containing substitution and variation clauses are expected to be rated "Ba1".

As defined by Moody's:

- (a) an "A2" rating means the obligation rated "A2" is considered upper-medium grade and is subject to low credit risk. The modifier "2" indicates that the obligation ranks in the mid-range of its generic rating category; and
- (b) a "Ba1" rating means the obligation rated "Ba1" is judged to be speculative and is subject to substantial credit risk. The modifier "1" indicates the obligation ranks in the higher end of its generic rating category.

The rating definitions set out above constitute third-party information and were obtained in the English language from the publication entitled "Rating Symbols and Definitions – June 2012" published by Moody's (available at www.moody.com). The information found at the website referred to in the previous sentence does not form part of and is not incorporated by reference into the Prospectus. The rating definitions set out above have been accurately reproduced from the source identified above and, so far as the Bank is aware and is able to ascertain from information published by the third party referred to above, no facts have been omitted which would render the ratings definitions set out above inaccurate or misleading.

For detail on credit ratings risks see “Risk Factors – Financial soundness related risks”. In particular, see Risk Factor 4.2 entitled, “The Group’s borrowing costs and access to the capital markets is dependent on a number of factors, and increased costs or reduction in access could materially adversely affect the Group’s results of operations, financial condition and prospects.”.

Litigation in relation to the insurance branch business in Germany

Clerical Medical Investment Group Limited (“CMIG”) has received a number of claims in the German courts, relating to policies issued by CMIG but sold by independent intermediaries in Germany, principally during the late 1990s and early 2000s. CMIG’s strategy has included defending claims robustly and appealing against adverse judgments. In its accounts for the year ended 31 December 2011 the Group recognised a provision of £175 million with respect to this litigation.

On 11 July 2012 the Federal Court of Justice (“FCJ”), the highest civil court in Germany, considered five cases which had been appealed to it from regional Courts of Appeal. In some of those cases CMIG was the appellant, having lost at the Court of Appeal level. In some of those cases CMIG was the respondent, having been successful at the Court of Appeal level.

The FCJ decided to remand the five cases back to the respective Courts of Appeal, to enable further consideration of the facts in each case. At the same time as making its decisions with respect to these five cases the FCJ issued a press release (the “Press Release”) which, although not having any legal effect, included comments by the FCJ on a range of issues relating to the five cases under appeal and other aspects of the relevant policies sold by CMIG, some of which comments are adverse to the position of CMIG. Between 25 and 31 July 2012 the FCJ handed down the five formal judgments in these cases which included detailed guidance with respect to key issues.

The full impact of the FCJ’s decisions in these cases, and the implications with respect to other claims facing CMIG, cannot be assessed until after the FCJ’s more detailed guidance in each of these cases has been reviewed and a consistent pattern has emerged with respect to the application of that guidance by the lower courts. Having regard to comments made by FCJ in its Press Release and the judgments, it is believed likely that the facts of individual cases will need to be considered on a case by case basis by lower courts in Germany (and, potentially, through one or more further appeals to the FCJ), and that the full implications of the FCJ’s decisions will thus only be capable of being assessed over time, once further clarity emerges from subsequent consideration of individual claims by lower courts and/or the FCJ. From the Press Release and an initial review of the judgments, the impact of the litigation cannot be quantified at this stage and there is a greater risk that the ultimate outcome of this litigation could be more unfavourable than previously assessed. The financial effect, which could be significantly different to the provision, will only be known once there is further clarity with respect to a range of legal issues involved in these claims and/or all relevant claims have been resolved.
