AN EDUCATED INVESTOR can make an informed decision.

When thinking about investing your money in a financial product, it is crucial that you opt for the financial product which is suitable for your needs.

The Malta Financial Services Authority (MFSA) is seeking to educate consumers by raising awareness on different types of trading venues and the difference between regulated and non-regulated ones with the aim to help you make an informed decision.

What is the difference between a regulated and non-regulated market?

As the name implies, a regulated market is licensed and authorised by a Financial Services Authority. In Malta, there is only one regulated market which is the Malta Stock Exchange (MSE) – this provides the structure for buyers and sellers to trade financial products. In the case of the MSE, this is regulated by the Malta Financial Services Authority.

On the other hand, in a non-regulated market, instruments admitted to trading need to follow the market's rules and are not required to send the prospectus to the Listing Authority.

What is a prospectus?

A prospectus is the document containing information about a financial product whereby you will find the essential information you would need to base your decision on. It will contain information such as:

- the industry in which the company you are investing in operates,
- the directors managing the company and other information about the management structure,
- the reason why the shares or bonds are being sold i.e. how the proceeds will be used,
- risks associated with the financial product and how it should be sold to the general public.

In the first page of the prospectus, one should always check whether the prospectus has been vetted by the Listing Authority and whether the financial product will be traded on a regulated market.

What if I find it difficult to understand the prospectus?

It is important that if you have any questions, you address them to an authorised financial advisor (authorised by the MFSA). Do not invest in a financial product unless you understand its characteristics.

You are also encouraged to monitor the performance of investments which are listed on the MSE, published in the local newspapers or online.
